Yosemite is a nice place. I'm told there's some nice climbing.

El Capitan

Character El Capitan is an iconic cliff in Yosemite National Park.

Access Many climbing routes require a permit. Review the NPS website for details.

Approach Park at the parking lot and follow the marked trails.

Conditions Storms often pop up, so monitor the weather

West Face

Approach How do you get there

① Mr. Midwest 5.13 PG13 ****

Mr. Midwest Free roughly follows the original aid line with 5 variation pitches. The hardest climbing is in the first 6 pitches, and it is relatively straightforward to rappel from the top of the crux 5th pitch to the ground on a suss mission.

1800' FA: Bill Russell and Doug McDonald, August 1985

The Widow's Tears

❶ The Lurch 5.12+

This route is characterized by quality stone, quality climbing, and relative safety. It's a great route to throw oneself at if pushing the grade. And if you don't climb 12+, this might be a good one to see where you're at—you can really go for it at the cruxes.

7 Pitches 700' FA: Bob Jensen and Jake Whittaker

❷ Riding on the Wind 5.11+

FA:

❸ Windfall 5.11c

FA:

❹ Windjammer 5.10c

FA:

❺ Windchill 5.11a

FA:

❻ Widow's Tears WI5

The longest continuous ice climb in the lower 48. It's a classic that only forms every few years, so has seen few ascents.

1000' FA: Mark Chapman and Kevin Worral, 1975

❼ Silver Strand WI5
